inspections are performed, assignment of dedicated staff and Board approval of significant items.

Schedule D Part II, Q 9 Reported in Financial Statements: The organization records the acquisition of easements and sanctuaries as property purchased at a nominal value.

Part IV, line 2b: Part X, line 21 of the Form 990 includes $316,578 in Agency Funds held for other nonprofit organizations and $1,843,263 in funds held for employees and former employees of Audubon related to a deferred compensation plan to which funds are no longer being contributed.

Part V, line 4: The endowment funds are donor-restricted funds held in perpetuity. The Board designates a budgeted spending limit of 5 per cent of the average three year market value. These funds are used to further the company's goals of conservation and restoration of our natural ecosystems.

Part X: Effective July 1, 2009, Audubon adopted the provisions of FASB Interpretation No. 48 ("FIN 48"), "Accounting for Uncertainties in Income Taxes-an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109," now incorporated in Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 740, which provides standards for establishing and classifying any tax provisions for uncertain tax positions. The adoption of FIN 48 did not have an effect on Audubon's financial position as of July 1, 2009 or Audubon's results of operations and cash flows for the year ended June 30, 2010. Audubon could be subject to federal or state and local income tax examinations by tax authorities for the year ended June 30, 2007 and subsequent fiscal years. Schedule D (Form 990) 2009

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a, Program Service Accomplishments:

Through its science and conservation programs, Audubon has now identified 2,522 Important Bird Areas across the United States and is working through its network of field programs to develop and implement conservation actions at many of these sites. In Fiscal Year Ended 2010, Audubon celebrated the opening of the Grange Insurance Audubon Center in Columbus, Ohio, The Audubon Center in Little Rock, Arkansas and the Nina Mason Pulliam Salado Audubon Center in Phoenix, Arizona adding to the network of Audubon Centers across the country. Local education and outreach programs combined with efforts to enlist grassroots support for important policy initiatives reached more than 1,000,000 people and a total of 168,000 people volunteered their time to further Audubon's mission.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b, Program Service Accomplishments:
in conservation planning, ecological analysis, environmental sciences,
bird migration studies and coordinated the efforts of 60,000 citizen
scientists as part of Audubon's Christmas Bird Count.

The Policy Program provided guidance and support to Audubon's field offices in advocating for local and state level environmental and educational policy initiatives. With staff skilled in grassroots organizing, advocacy and communications, the Policy Program also supported state and multi-state conservation efforts to protect and restore large ecosystems such as the Everglades, the Mississippi River, initiatives also included protecting forest ecosystems, strengthening the national wildlife refuge system, protecting endangered species, restoring and protecting wetlands, and protecting key bird habitat across the country.

The Education and Centers Program coordinated and provided assistance for the network of Audubon Centers and worked with field staff in the planning and delivery of innovative projects, fellowship programs and education materials. Educational programs are designed to produce both short and long-term on-the-ground conservation outcomes. Audubon Centers are a central strategy for meeting one of Audubon's goals to engage a diverse and growing constituency for conservation.

Communications and outreach efforts support Audubon's conservation mission and provide educational information through publications and content on the Web-site (www.Audubon.org). Audubon's award winning magazine which covers environmental conservation and wildlife issues represents the majority of Audubon's publication expenses.

Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 6: The organization has over 400,000 members.

Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 7a: The members of the Board of Directors are elected by the members of the organization. Of the three staggered classes of 13 Directors each, three-fourths are nominated by the Board of Directors and one-fourth by affiliates in their respective regions

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 11: Form 990 is provided to the Audit and Ethics Committee of the Board of Directors for review and comment prior to filing. A copy is made available to the full Board prior to filing.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c: National Audubon Society requires annual disclosure of conflicts and certification of compliance by Board members and officers.

Information forms for contracts with service providers and vendors require disclosure, by employees involved in arranging the contract, of conflicts of interest due to relationships of employees, officers or Directors with the providers or vendors.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 15: The Vice President for Human Resources and the HRIS/Compensation Analyst periodically review salary surveys provided by various compensation professionals and organizations. These surveys provide compensation data for various positions based upon the size of the organization including the size of its budget and the number of employees working in the organization. For the CEO as well as for other senior level positions we review the PRM Consulting Group's Annual Management Compensation Report for not-for-profit organizations. From this we obtain salary data for the mean, median, 25th and 75th percentiles for each position. We also review the guidestar.com

Compensation Report which provides similar data based upon 990's filed with LHA For Privacy Act and Paperwork Reduction Act Notice, see the Instructions for Form 990.

contracted with Telefund Inc. to provide telemarketing services. The purpose of these services is to enhance and increase a donor base that is sustainable over an extended period of time. It is not unusual that this type of activity will generate a negative cash flow in any given year, similar to a capital investment. The company pays a consultant for services which may generate donations in that year less than the fees paid to the fundraiser; but the company will receive future benefits as many of these donors will continue to contribute to the organization thus making the costs of this service valuable to the company.

Payments to fundraising counsels are for strategies and general services to enable Audubon to reach donors and potential donors. These services do not include payments for actual solicitation and therefore do not directly generate donations.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a, Program Service Accomplishments

Through its science and conservation programs, Audubon has now identified 2,234 Important Bird Areas in 46 states and is working through its network of field programs to develop and implement conservation actions at many of these sites. Audubon celebrated the opening of the Trinity River Audubon Center in Dallas, Texas and Seward Park Environmental and Audubon Center in Seattle, Washington adding to the network of close to 40 Audubon Centers across the country. Local education and outreach programs combined with efforts to enlist grassroots support for important policy initiatives reached more than 900,000 people and a total of 10,000 people volunteered their time to further Audubon's mission.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b, Program Service Accomplishments
in conservation planning, ecological analysis, environmental sciences,
bird migration studies and coordinated the efforts of 60,000 citizen
scientists as part of Audubon's Christmas Bird Count.

The Policy Program provided guidance and support to Audubon's field offices in advocating for local and state level environmental and educational policy initiatives. With staff skilled in grassroots organizing, advocacy and communications, the Policy Program also supported state and multi-state conservation efforts to protect and restore large ecosystems such as the Everglades, the Mississippi River, Long Island Sound, and the Sage Brush Ecosystem. Key policy initiatives also included protecting forest ecosystems, strengthening the national wildlife refuge system, protecting endangered species, restoring and protecting wetlands, and protecting key bird habitat across the country.

The Education and Centers Program coordinated and provided assistance for the network of Audubon Centers and worked with field staff in the planning and delivery of innovative projects, fellowship programs and education materials. Educational programs are designed to produce both short and long-term on-the-ground conservation outcomes. Audubon Centers are a central strategy for meeting one of Audubon's goals to engage a diverse and growing constituency for conservation.

communications and outreach efforts support Audubon's conservation mission and provide educational information through publications and content on the Web-site (www.Audubon.org). Audubon's award winning magazine which covers environmental conservation and wildlife issues represents the majority of Audubon's publication expenses.

Part III Statement of Program Service Accomplishments (See the instructions.)

Form 990 is available for public inspection and, for some people, serves as the primary or sole source of information about a particular organization. How the public perceives an organization in such cases may be determined by the information presented on its return. Therefore, please make sure the return is complete and accurate and fully describes, in Part III, the organization's programs and accomplishments.

Wr	nat is the organization's primary exempt purpose? See Statement 11	Program Service Expenses
clie	organizations must describe their exempt purpose achievements in a clear and concise manner. State the number of ents served, publications issued, etc. Discuss achievements that are not measurable. (Section 501(c)(3) and (4) panizations and 4947(a)(1) nonexempt charitable trusts must also enter the amount of grants and allocations to others.)	(Required for 501(c)(3) and (4) orgs., and 4947(a)(1) trusts; but optional for others.)

Sanctuaries and nature centers provided the general public with information and instruction about preservation issues and man's interaction with the environment. Data collected is made available to the public. It was also used for scientific review and the study of early winter birds population dynamics. The public was educated with instruction and outdoor experiences on environmental issues and conservation. Conferences and meetings increased awareness of environmental issues and knowledge about conservation. Dinners/luncheons, conferences, festivals, and trips increased awareness of environmental issues and knowledge about conservation. The items sold in inventory contributed to our exempt purpose.

Innovation Grants 2008 Selection Process

Applications were encouraged from throughout the Audubon network: members of National Audubon Society (programs, state offices and centers), Audubon chapters (which are independent 501(c)(3)s affiliated with National Audubon Society) and independent Audubon groups were all eligible to apply.

Applicants completed a standard application form online.

Each application was then reviewed by three members of our 18-person selection committee. Within each of those teams of three was at least one member of the Audubon network and one person from outside the network. Each team contained at least one person with a conservation science, planning or management background and one person with an environmental education or community engagement background to ensure a diversity of perspectives.

Reviewers used a standard rubric to assign scores to each application. Applications were rated on:

Project description (Is it clear? Did the reviewer understand exactly what the applicant was proposing to do?)

Program goals (Do they align with the TogetherGreen conservation goals? Will the project achieve dramatic conservation results and inspire participant action?)

Innovation and strategic impact (Does the project take a fresh approach that is likely to be effective at achieving conservation goals?)

Diversity and reach (Will the project reach a large, new and/or diverse audience?)

Evaluation strategy (Will the evaluation strategy be effective at measuring success? Does it include specific metrics?)

Budget (Is the budget clear and reasonable? Does the applicant use resources creatively?)

Partner organizations (Are partners highly qualified to perform their intended role? Are they critical in helping the applicant achieve the goals of the project?)

Sustainability or replicability (Will the project be sustainable beyond the grant period, or will it provide a replicable model for other communities or organizations?)

Team qualifications (Does the applicant have strong experience running similar projects? Does the proposed project align well with their organizational mission and strategic goals?)

Risks and challenges (Are they well thought out and appropriate? Are the strategies chosen appropriate to overcome the challenges?)

Timeline (Does the timeline cover all aspects of the project, from planning through evaluation? Is it appropriate for achieving success in the stated time?).

A project that met all of these requirements would have received the highest score possible. The rubrics were weighted to give the most points for on-the-ground conservation results, diversity and reach, and innovation.

When the team members had finished reviewing each of their applications and assigned scores in each of these categories, they met to talk over discrepancies in their scores and to come to consensus over which applications to recommend for funding. Since the total average request from each project was considerably higher than we could meet, reviewers were also asked to recommend which projects might be able to achieve some success with a lesser amount of funding than was requested.

After reviewer recommendations had been made, a small subset of reviewers made final decisions regarding which groups to award funding to, taking into account both overall scores and recommendations and the need for a suite of grant projects that was geographically diverse, reached many different types of audiences, and achieved all of the program's conservation goals (habitat, water and energy).

Statement 2

Conservation Leadership Program 2008 Selection Process

TogetherGreen had the funds to support 40 Fellows in 2008, 20 from inside the Audubon network and 20 from outside organizations. In order to be eligible to apply, individuals needed at least six years of experience in environmental conservation issues, demonstrated through current and past work experience and/or volunteer activities. Additionally, individuals were required to have a current affiliation (full- or part-time employment or equivalent volunteer commitment) with a conservation organization, or a business, university, community-based, or other professional organization whose goals and practices are making a positive contribution to conservation.

Applications were encouraged from throughout the Audubon network: members of National Audubon Society (programs, state offices and centers), Audubon chapters (which are independent 501(c)(3)s affiliated with National Audubon Society) and independent Audubon groups. We also advertised the opportunity at over 100 other organizations and their listservs, online job board listings, and newsletters, including the Center for Diversity and the Environment & Young Environmental Professionals of Color, Peace Corps, the Association of Nature Center Administrators, the American Association of Museums, and the Ecological Society of America.

Applicants completed a standard application form online. All applicants needed to submit two letters of recommendations and one optional letter of support from a conservation practitioner mentor. Letters were sent directly to the Audubon DC office.

Each application was screened for completeness and eligibility by at least two Audubon staff. All the applications that passed the initial screening process were then reviewed by three members of our 15-person selection committee. The selection committee consisted of Audubon and non-Audubon experts in conservation science, planning, education, and community engagement.

Reviewers used a standard rubric to assign numerical scores to each application.

Applications were rated on six different areas:

Conservation Vision: Does the applicant clearly articulate a detailed conservation vision? Does the applicant describe personal motivation for becoming a Fellow? Does the applicant clearly describe how the Leadership Program will further personal and career goals? Is the vision clearly aligned with the goals of the Leadership Program?

Involvement in current or past conservation project that demonstrates leadership: Does the applicant describe current leadership involvement in a conservation project? Does the applicant demonstrate examples of consistently being a change agent and conservation leader?

Conservation Action Project: Does applicant describe a CAP that will achieve a TogetherGreen conservation goal, complement National Sate and Audubon goals (for Audubon Fellows), and/or address specific environmental behaviors? Does the applicant articulate a measureable outcome that she/he hopes to achieve? Does the applicant demonstrate past experience and interest in conservation and moving people to take action? Does the applicant clearly describe how participation in the program will contribute to achieving those action outcomes? Is the CAP well planned?

Engaging new and diverse audiences: Does applicant describe how she/he would share results with others? Does applicant consistently demonstrate a leadership role in implementing activities that engage diverse, new, and/or non-traditional audiences in conservation activities? Does applicant's past work/volunteer history demonstrate creative examples of successfully implemented outreach methods? Does current project demonstrate broad reach among a variety of participants?

Professional Qualifications: Does applicant display varied and in-depth professional experience in conservation activities, demonstrated through formal training, informal workshops, volunteer experience, work experience, community involvement, or professional affiliations?

Recommendation Letters: Do letters confirm applicant's professional record? Are letters appropriate? Does the letter from a current supervisor demonstrate commitment to applicant's professional development and organization's interest and ability to support a conservation action project? Does supervisor describe how the CAP and/or training will integrate into applicant's established work commitments?

An applicant that rated highly in all of six focus areas would have received the highest score possible. All focus areas were weighted equally.

When the team members had finished reviewing each of their applications and assigned scores in each of these categories, they met to talk over discrepancies in their scores and to come to consensus over which applicants to recommend. Review teams were also asked to rank the applicants in order of their recommendations. Each group reviewed 15-20 applications. Audubon applicants were rated against other Audubon applicants, and non-Audubon applicants were rated against other non-Audubon applicants.

After reviewer recommendations had been made, a small subset of reviewers made final decisions for which individuals to select, taking into account overall scores and recommendations from the review teams and the need for a class of Fellows that was geographically diverse, reached many different types of audiences, and achieved all of the program's conservation goals (habitat, water and energy).

Dear Applicant:

Our letter dated December, 1999, stated you would be exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and you would be treated as a public charity, rather than as a private foundation, during an advance ruling period.

Based on the information you submitted, you are classified as a public charity under the Code section listed in the heading of this letter. Since your exempt status was not under consideration, you continue to be classified as an organization exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

Publication 557, Tax-Exempt Status for Your Organization, provides detailed information about your rights and responsibilities as an exempt organization. You may request a copy by calling the toll-free number for forms, (800) 829-3676. Information is also available on our Internet Web Site at www.irs.gov.

If you have general questions about exempt organizations, please call our toll-free number shown in the heading between 8:00 a.m. - 6:30 p.m. Eastern time.

Please keep this letter in your permanent records.

Sincerely yours,

Lois G. Lerner

MAINE FARMLAND TRUST INC

Your classification as an organization described in sections 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) and 509(a)(1) of the Code is contingent upon you continuing to meet the public support requirements of these Code sections. Please refer to Publication 557, Qualifying As Publicly Supported, under Chapter 3, for further details concerning these requirements. If your sources of support change significantly in the future, you should notify your Key District Director so that we can consider the effect if any on your foundation status.

Form 990 Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

Statement 26

Field Conservation Programs are the primary implementation points in the organization. Audubon has been a strong grass roots community based organization for most of its 100-year history. The organization has developed a stronger decentralized implementation structure to support that grass roots capacity over the last decade. Audubon's key programs are delivered to the public and members at the local level.

Field offices supported both Audubon members and local Audubon chapters in developing a strong and influential local community presence. Priority conservation and educational activities, with programs to engage people in the efforts of Audubon's mission are a major function of Audubon's field offices. Additionally, field offices oversaw Audubon's wildlife and conservation programs protecting wildlife and their habitats, especially Important Bird Areas, while operating nature centers and sanctuaries. Local education programs and the operation of Audubon Education Centers, as well as policy advocacy at a local and state capital level were all conducted through field offices. All of these efforts are designed to meet our conservation goals and to engage people in our mission. The combined field programs served with programs over 900,000 people and over 10,000 people volunteered on conservation work or education programs.

National Conservation Programs provided support to the field along with guidelines and coordination to assure maximum effectiveness globally.

The Science program maintained a high level of technical competency and knowledge to serve and assist Audubon's field, instructors, and conservation professionals. This program encompassed activities such as assistance with conservation planning, ecological analysis, environmental sciences, bird migration studies and coordinated the efforts of thousands of volunteers to monitor bird populations and habitat. The experts in Audubon's science program helped identify actions individuals can take to make a difference for conservation in their day-to-day lives that can be used at the field level for education purposes. Over 2,000 important bird habitat locations have been identified for action and protection.

The Public Policy program provided a fully integrated approach to supporting Audubon's state offices and centers as well as responded on a timely basis to major national policy issues. Utilizing staff skilled in grassroots organizing, lobbying and public relations, the program supported large state and multi-state efforts such as: restoration of large ecosystems, like the Everglades, the Mississippi River, Long Island Sound and Important Bird Areas; addressing the human impact on habitat, protecting forest ecosystems; strengthening the national wildlife refuge system; protecting endangered species; restoring and protecting wetlands; and protection of habitat in key bird habitat around the country. Several hundred visits to members of congress with volunteers helped further our policy objectives.

Form 990 Statement of Program Service Accomplishments Statement 26

The Education program coordinated and provided technical assistance for network of Audubon Centers around the country and worked with state and center education directors in the planning and delivery of innovative projects, fellowship programs, education content and materials. The content, training, materials and experiences provided by Audubon centers and education programs, reinforced, and in many cases contributed to, the conservation objectives and priorities based on science. Centers are also a central strategy for expanding the constituency for conservation into urban and rural communities that have not traditionally been engaged. Improving the diversity of the conservation movement is a key objective. Several million dollars have been provided to dozens of fellows and dozens of innovative conservation projects to engage people.

Communications and outreach efforts in support of conservation work include publications, and communications that provided general public information, such as content on the Web site and printed materials for general distribution. Publication expenses are mainly the Award winning Audubon magazine, which covers conservation, ecological, and wildlife preservation issues of global importance. APPLICATION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME TO FILE AN EXEMPT ORGANIZATION RETURN - APPROVED

We have received your Form 8868, Application for Extension of Time to File an Exempt Organization Return, for the return (form) and tax period identified above.

We have approved your request and have extended the due date to file your return to May 15, 2009.

If you have any questions, please call us at the number shown above, or you may write us at the address shown at the top left of this letter.

Reminder - You May Be Required to File Electronically

Exempt organizations may be required to file certain returns electronically. For tax years ending on or after December 31, 2006, the electronic filing requirement applies to exempt organizations with $10 million or more in total assets if the organization files at least 250 returns in a calendar year, including income, excise, employment tax and information returns. Private foundations and charitable trusts will be required to file Forms 990-PF electronically regardless of their asset size, if they file at least 250 returns annually. For more information, go to www.irs.gov. Click "Charities and Non-Profits" and look for the "e-file for Charities and Non-Profits" tab.

For tax forms, instructions and information visit www.irs.gov. (Access to this site will not provide you with your specific taxpayer account information.)
