On September 17, 2007, IFAW, along with NRDC, HSUS, Cetacean Society International, League for Coastal Protection, and Oceans Futures Society and Jean Michel Cousteau challenged the Navy's proposed deployment of LFA sonar in over 75% of the world's oceans. The lawsuit challenged a 5 year permit issued by the National Marine Fisheries Service to use LFA sonar because the permit violated a number of federal laws including the Marine Mammal Protection Act and the National Environmental Policy Act by failing to protect marine life with adequate mitigation measures. On February 6, 2008, a U.S. district court in San Francisco granted a preliminary injunction to plaintiffs limiting the area in which the Navy may train with LFA sonar. On November 11, 2008 the U.S. Navy and the plaintiffs reached an agreement in which LFA sonar testing and training is limited to defined areas of the North Pacific Ocean, following a US Supreme Court decision favorable to the defendants.

While the International Fund for Animal Welfare, Inc. does receive donations from around the world, foreign donations are de minimis and therefore, not tracked separately. We estimate foreign donations to be approximately $10,000-$40,000 per year. IFAW, Inc. also receives grants from our affiliate organizations located worldwide. The value of these grants and the countries they are received from are detailed in Schedule R of the IRS Form 990.

WHALES * Ending Commercial Whaling is a longstanding IFAW campaign priority. In FY10, IFAW prepared and mounted a successful campaign effort to defeat a dangerous proposal put forward by the Chair and Vice Chair of the International Whaling Commission (IWC) to legitimize commercial whaling in the 21st century. This effort involved focused campaign efforts in Washington, DC, Brussels, Belgium, and IFAW offices in IWC member countries, especially the US, UK, Australia, Germany, France, and partners in other key countries and regions. In June 2010, a robust, international IFAW delegation attended the 62nd annual meeting of the IWC in Agadir, Morocco. Despite significant pressure from key IWC member governments including the United States and support for some sort of negotiated compromise from other NGOs, the compromise proposal was defeated in Agadir. * Thanks to pressure from IFAW supporters worldwide, 26 countries signed a formal diplomatic protest against Iceland's continued commercial whaling. The joint demarche, a formal diplomatic protest signed by the UK, the US and Australia among others, states that the 26 governments were "deeply disappointed" with the

COMPANION ANIMALS * IFAW provided veterinary care to nearly 38,000 dogs and cats in impoverished communities around the world, including Johannesburg and Cape Town, South Africa, Navajo Nation, USA, Indigenous communities of northern Canada, Cozumel, Mexico and Bali, Indonesia. * IFAW and its national and local partners have spayed/neutered over 71,000 animals in US Gulf Coast states since Hurricane Katrina. Hurricanes Katrina and Rita in 2005 exposed the public to a growing pet overpopulation problem in the Gulf Coast states of Louisiana and Mississippi, with nearly 80 percent of all pets in the region unaltered. Leading animal welfare organizations including IFAW joined in an effort to support spay/neuter programs in hurricane affected areas. * In early 2010, South Africa newspapers carried front page headlines of a deadly Canine Parvovirus outbreak just a short distance from the IFAW's Dog & Cat Rescue Clinic in Cape Town. Staff quickly mobilized and a vaccination drive ensued saving over 1,000 puppies and dogs from this highly contagious virus which attacks primarily puppies and often leaves them dead within days. * IFAW sponsored microchipping and

EMERGENCY RELIEF * For centuries, marine mammals have stranded off the Cape Cod coast more frequently than almost anywhere in the world. Today, IFAW, with authority from NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service, is responsible for rescuing marine mammals stranded anywhere along 700 miles of Massachusetts coastline. IFAW maintains a 24-hour hotline and responds to all reported strandings within minutes. IFAW and its 300 volunteers investigated 807 stranding reports in FY10, 249 requiring direct intervention. In 1999, 16% of mass stranded cetaceans were successfully released. In 2010, our release rate for live mass stranded cetaceans reached 73%. In FY10, IFAW received federal authorization to release and study the survival rate of healthy single animals, which had previously been prohibited on the assumption that an individual from a social species would have a poor chance of survival. Initial tagging data has shown several cases of these single animals joining up with larger pods after release, an important step in challenging the prevailing assumption. * The Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 11 - The Form 990 is circulated to all members of the Board of Directors, including the audit committee, as well as members of senior management (for review and comment) approximately one week in advance of submission to the IRS.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c - The filing organization and its affiliates maintain common policies and procedures covering virtually all operational and financial activities, financial disbursements processing, accounting and reporting, financial reserves, investing, conflict of interest, professional code of conduct, etc. Accountability standards are communicated across the organizations and its affiliates in writing and/or verbally, depending upon the nature of the policy, and compliance monitoring is performed on a basis which is consistent with related risks.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 15 - Position descriptions form the basis of the organization's wage and salary program. Staff positions, including senior management roles, are evaluated and priced against market data that is obtained from an independent international compensation consultant. Each position is priced using relevant local data that is deemed representational of similar not-for-profits. The Chief Executive Officer's compensation level is reviewed against available market data and is approved (including changes) by IFAW's Executive Committee Board of Directors.

Form 990, Part VI, Section C, Line 19 - Financial statements, tax filings and certain policies are available on the IFAW website. Other documents are available upon request.

First Program Service Accomplishments Description

Description

former Icelandic government's decision to authorize commercial whaling * IFAW 's partnering with NOAA's Stellwagen Bank National Marine Sanctuary, the United States Coast Guard, and the maritime shipping industry to prevent ship strikes of endangered Right Whales. In FY10, IFAW deployed an Automatic Identification System (AIS) transmitter at Cape Cod National Seashore to transmit real-time Right Whale sighting information directly to ship traffic. This affords the crew a chance to receive warnings of the presence of right whales just as they would view critical collision warnings with other vessels, and take corrective measures.

Second Program Service Accomplishments Description

Description

registration of over 200 dogs in Berlin, Germany. A new Berlin law requires dogs to be chipped and registered, which is expensive at commercial veterinary practices. IFAW sponsored this clinic to help the disadvantaged community comply with the law. * An IFAW undercover investigation exposed the cruel and illegal puppy trade in the Netherlands. Over many months IFAW meticulously recorded how unscrupulous puppy breeders, importers and traders in the Netherlands and Hungary earn big money at the expense of tens of thousands of puppies and mother dogs. The results of the investigation were published on the TV show "Undercover in the Netherlands". IFAW is advocating for strict import policies, a mandatory tracking and tracing system, more enforcement capacity, higher penalties for offenders and pan-European legislation for the welfare of companion animals, as necessary to fight this enormous animal welfare problem. * IFAW was instrumental in stopping planned dog culls in two municipalities in China. Quick action from IFAW and thousands of animal lovers in China saved the lives of thousands of dogs.

Third Program Service Accomplishments DescriptionDescription

IFAW-led Animal Relief Coalition for Haiti (ARCH) provided immediate first aid to injured and sick animals following the Haitian earthquake and signed a 1.1M dollar agreement with the Haitian government to restore the country's veterinary capacity and tackle animal/human health concerns. As of June 2010, ARCH had treated more than 25,000 animals. * IFAW released rehabilitated clouded leopards into the wild for the first time in India. Two orphaned leopard cubs rescued last year by the Assam Forest Department have been hand-raised at the IFAW Wildlife Rescue Center at Kaziranga National Park, India. These shy, nocturnal and tree-dwelling cubs have now been gently radio collared and released into the wild - the first known instance of a successful rehabilitation and release of this species. * An endangered Royal Bengal tiger (one of perhaps 1,200 to 1,500 left in the wild) was rescued and released into Manas National Park (a World Heritage site on the border of India and the Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan.) This rescue was especially important to IFAW since we not only saved a critically endangered animal from suffering, but can also make better use of our on-site monitoring team which can track the tiger along with elephants and other animals we've released to rebuild this park. * IFAW supported the rescue and release of 147 orphaned African penguin chicks rescued from starvation in South Africa. Late hatchlings on the Western Cape Islands often coincide with the start of the adult moult, resulting in parents abandoning chicks prior to fledging. IFAW partner SANCCOB's chick bolstering project rescues, rehabilitates and releases these endangered chicks. * IFAW helped roughly 1,000 animals by rebuilding shelters and providing critical care and food for an additional 250 animals after Typhoon Morakot devastated southern Taiwan. * IFAW led water rescue operations following Typhoon Ketsana in the Philippines helping more than 3000 animals.

Other Program Services Accomplishments

Activity Code	Description	Expense	Grants	Revenue
	WILDLIFE TRADE * IFAW's research and lobbying efforts before and during the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) 15th Conference of the Parties in Doha, Qatar contributed to several important decisions for animals. Previous protection decisions for tigers were maintained despite great pressure from some countries to repeal. Stricter measures to control the illegal trade in wildlife over the Internet were endorsed. * Alibaba, the world's largest B2B e-commerce site, banned the sale of ivory, sea turtle and shark fin. The milestone decision was made following a year-long collaboration between IFAW and Alibaba's partner site in China, Taobao.com to raise awareness about the unsustainable and cruel trade of wildlife on the Internet. IFAW encourages netizens to report online wildlife crime activities and helps portal sites filter out advertisements of wildlife products. To date, 333 wildlife product advertisements and 5 traders registered from Cameroon, USA, and Canada have been removed from the Alibaba site. * During FY10, IFAW conducted 12 trainings in the prevention of illegal wildlife trade for 268 frontline enforcement officers in the Middle East and North Africa, Caribbean and Oceania regions.	2,196,481	163,521	0
	ELEPHANTS * IFAW became the first NGO in Asia to purchase an elephant corridor and make it part of a protected area. The 25.4 acre Kollegal Elephant Corridor land in India purchased by IFAW in 2007 has now been formally transferred to the state government. * IFAW translocated nine abused elephants back to the wild in Zimbabwe. The elephants were confiscated in April 2009 after an inspection by the Zimbabwe National Society for the Protection of Cruelty against Animals (ZNSPCA) found cruel and torturous methods were being used to "tame and train" them for the elephant back safari industry. IFAW assisted by translocating the elephants to a safe haven in Hwange National Park, a large rehabilitation home for monitoring before eventually being released into the park. * Tsavo Conservation Area (TCA) is the largest contiguous protected area in Kenya, and is home to Kenya's biggest single population of African elephants. IFAW's support for equipment, facilities enhancement, training, and community outreach helped the project to achieve the following outcomes for FY10: - A 4WD Toyota land-cruiser for Tsavo East Security Unit provided a major boost for elephant protection patrols. - Over 6,145 heads of cattle were driven out of the Park, thus maintaining the Tsavo ecosystem. - Several snares were recovered, thus limiting the poaching activities in the ranches adjacent to the Park in the Southern Area. - 6,400 people attended education and outreach meetings. Park-Community relationships have improved tremendously leading to their cooperation by way of providing information about illegal activities in the park such as poaching and charcoal burning. - IFAW supported the introduction of alternative livelihoods to communities bordering the park, including beekeeping, which reduce human elephant conflict issues. - An IFAW-supported Anti-Poaching Team apprehended a notorious elephant poacher in Tsavo. He was part of six-man gang that had been sought by Tsavo's security staff for almost a month.	1,437,573	462,439	0
	SEALS * IFAW maintained the pressure on Canada's declining sealing industry by publishing scientific articles and media commentaries, documenting on film the cruelty of the Canadian seal hunt and the loss of ice habitat, supporting Canadian Senator Mac Harb's bill proposing to end the seal hunt, and hosting public events. * Early in FY10, the EU Council of Ministers endorsed the ban on trade in seal products that had been approved by the EU parliament in FY09. Implementation of the ban was scheduled for 2010. IFAW's efforts were critical to achieving the landmark ban.	793,949	6,265	0
	REGIONAL PRIORITIES * TIGERS A critically endangered Amur tiger was successfully released to the wild in Russia's Far East. One of only an estimated 450 surviving Amur tigers in the wild, the 14-month-old cub had spent 6 months undergoing rehabilitation supported by IFAW and other groups and government agencies. Prior to the release, the tiger was radio-collared by scientists from the Russian Academy of Sciences who will monitor the cub in the following months. anti-poaching teams in Russia and India to strengthen their tiger protection efforts. In the Russian Far East, the Khasan anti poaching team continued patrolling, writing citations, confiscating weapons, imposing fines on wildlife offenders, and investigating cases of human - tiger conflict. In addition, they conducted educational outreach to more than 1,200 youth in surrounding communities and deployed an innovative motorized airglider to improve their surveillance capability. In India's Kanna Tiger Reserve, an additional 640 rangers were trained and outfitted in FY10 as part of a long term project to build capacity to protect tigers and other wildlife.

INTERNATIONAL FUND FOR ANIMAL WELFARE INC31-1594197*Program Services

Achievement	Pgm. Svc. Exp.
Wildlife Preservation & Protection Programs: Wildlife Habitat Protection (WHP) is one of two program departments. WHP work combines advocacy, research, and habitat protection to protect animals threatened by trade and habitat loss or degradation. Working with governments, multi-lateral organizations, and other non-profits to influence national policies and international agreements, the program promotes the reduction or elimination of international trade in wildlife. In addition to working on trade and exploitation issues, IFAW is committed to protecting wildlife habitats throughout the world, focusing on those that support populations that are threatened by commercial exploitation. WHP is comprised of five priority areas as follows: (1) whales, (2) seals, (3) elephants (4), protection against commercial trade (PACT) and (5) other regional priorities such as tigers, marine turtles, and wolves. (1) WHALES: IFAW protects whales by supporting global conservation efforts, promoting responsible whale watching worldwide and conducting regional and national educational and political campaigns to protect whales. Selected 2008 highlights include: (a) IFAW's Latin American office embarked on several initiatives, including promotion of the non-lethal use of cetaceans, such as responsible whale watching through regional workshops, socio-economic studies and regulations; increased government actions, improved legislation for whale conservation. (b) Through coordination with IFAW's Australian affiliate, commissioned two independent reports by top legal experts whom concluded that Japan's rapidly expanding so-called scientific whaling program breaches the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, the Antarctic Treaty System, the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES) and the International Convention on the Regulation of Whaling. The reports gave strong support to the chances of legal success against the government of Japan. (c) Through coordination with one of IFAW's United Kingdom affiliates, produced and distributed an IFAW report on ocean noise pollution entitled Ocean Noise called Turn it Down. (2) SEALS: IFAW has campaigned against the Canadian commercial seal hunt since its founding in 1969, and continues to target Canada's hunt - the largest remaining commercial hunt for a marine mammal population in the world. IFAW's focus involves the welfare of individual animals and the welfare of their wild populations. IFAW's goal is to ensure that seals are no longer hunted commercially or culled. Selected 2008 highlights include: (a) Through coordination with IFAW's Canadian affiliate, continued annual monitoring and documentation of annual seal hunt that accounts for culling approximately 300,000 harp seals. Further, IFAW engaged in media and supporter write-in campaigns in opposition to the annual seal hunt. (b) Through coordination with IFAW's Dutch affiliate, held a large demonstration in front of the European Commission office in Brussels, Belgium with the goal of pressing for European-wide legislation to ban commercial trade in seal products. (3) ELEPHANTS: IFAW attempts to enhance the survival and well-being of elephants by eliminating the ivory trade and securing elephant habitats. Selected 2008 highlights include: (a) Though IFAW's East Africa office, the Kenya Wildlife Service Tsavo Conservation Area project remained the largest single IFAW investment in East and Central Africa. It continues to be a showcase of IFAW's success in wildlife habitat management and protection. During 2008, the project was in its third year of implementation. The six main objectives of the project remain: enhancing basic park operations; law enforcement; human-wildlife conflict mitigation; scientific research; conservation education; and community conservation. The project has received many accolades from the Kenya Wildlife Service as well as from other government officials and institutions. Three more vehicles were delivered to the project, including one to address human-wildlife conflict in communities in northern part of Tsavo East National Park. (b) Though coordination with one of IFAW's United Kingdom affiliates, IFAW provided financial support to Wildlife Trust of India, which contributed to helping establish elephant migratory corridors, continuance of elephant rehabilitation and reintegration projects, and progress towards reducing human/elephant conflicts. (4) PACT: IFAW is committed to eradicating cruel and ecologically unsustainable trade in wild animals by reducing the levels of trade and by integrating animal welfare standards. To accomplish this, IFAW conducts public education and consumer awareness efforts; improves enforcement collaboration between wildlife authorities in countries of origin for wildlife products as well as in consuming countries; and maintains a strong political presence and influence, nationally and in international conventions such as Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species ("CITES"), Convention on Biological Diversity ("CBD"), International Whaling Commission ("IWC") and others. Selected 2008 highlights include: (a) Continuation of IFAW's global Think Twice campaign, a multi-national media	$8,086,141.00 campaign educating travelers about the impact of purchasing wildlife souvenirs. (b) Internet trade campaigns, Bidding for Extinction and Killing with Keystrokes, aimed at educating consumers about how purchasing wildlife products and contraband over the internet (especially eBay) contributes to animal exploitation and extinction. (5) OTHER PRIORITIES: Selected 2008 highlights include: (a) Through IFAW's Latin American office, IFAW undertook several marine turtle initiatives while seeking the participation of local communities and NGOs through national and regional workshops and meetings regarding sea turtle conservation. (b) Through coordination with one of IFAW's United Kingdom affiliates, IFAW provided financial support to Wildlife Trust of India to advance the Tiger Watch program and publication and distribution of the Tiger Action Plan.

Animal Protection & Welfare Programs: Animals in Crisis and Distress (AICD) is one of two program departments. AICD work saves animals from suffering due to cruelty, inhumane confinement, and man-made and natural disasters. Major projects focus on suffering of dogs, cats and other companion animals, the rescue of stranded cetaceans, the rehabilitation of oiled seabirds, raising standards of care of wild animals in captivity, unethical and cruel hunting practices, and the rehabilitation of rescued animals. AICD is comprised of two priority areas: (1) companion animals and (2) emergency relief. (1) COMPANION ANIMALS: IFAW's companion animal campaigns and projects center on improving the welfare of pets in disadvantaged communities but also focuses on providing veterinary care, legislative and policy initiatives, re-homing efforts and educational outreach. Selected highlights include: (a) In partnership with one of its United Kingdom affiliates for funding and its South African affiliate for program oversight, IFAW provided financial and other resources to support to the Community Led Animal Welfare (CLAW) program of South Africa which provide veterinary and spay/neuter services to twenty-five thousand dogs and cats located in 29 disadvantaged communities. (b) Through coordination with its United Kingdom affiliates, IFAW provided funding to the Moscow Mobile Veterinary Clinic which provided spay/neuter, vaccination, and other care to more than one thousand dogs and cats. (2) EMERGENCY RELIEF: IFAW's Emergency Relief program helps animals in crisis and distress that are victims of oil spills, severe weather, floods and fires and other disasters, natural and human-caused. IFAW also provides rehabilitation, sanctuary and expert care for animals that require emergency rescue, but cannot remain in, or be immediately returned to, the wild. Selected 2008 highlights include: (a) In response to the May 2008 earthquake in China, IFAW provided generators, tents, water pumps, fencing material, masks, gloves and disinfectants to assist in the animal rescue and relief efforts. In addition, IFAW convinced local officials to not resort to mass killing of dogs and instead address public health concerns through an IFAW sponsored anti-rabies vaccination and veterinary aid program in the 20,000+ population. (b) IFAW continued funding to support bear, elephant and chimpanzee sanctuaries in Russia, Kenya and Uganda. Further, IFAW's Animal Action Week (AAW) initiative, which is conducted in elementary schools, educates school children about animals and their habitats. During fiscal year 2008 AAWs theme was focused on emergency relief activities. AAW: IFAW Animal Action Week is the largest animal-focused educational event in the world. It takes place during the first week of October, to coincide with annual World Animal Day each October 4. Many IFAW country offices, school groups and individuals get involved long before, and continue their efforts long after, the official Animal Action Week. For more than 15 years, IFAW Animal Action Week has been giving young people the knowledge and tools they need to take positive action on behalf of animals and the environment we share with them. During 2008, IFAW Animal Action Week ran in 17 countries through 14 IFAW country offices - Australia, Canada, China, East Africa, France, Germany, India, Latin America, Middle East (4 countries - UAE, Jordan, Yemen and Kuwait), The Netherlands, Russia, South Africa, United Kingdom and the United States. It has expanded to involve more than seven million participants, primarily young people, and can lay claim to being the largest animal welfare event of its kind in the world. The key activities of AAW are: an education initiative aimed primarily at 10-15 year-olds, the IFAW Animal Action Awards - an international animal awards scheme, and 'Public Action', which covers a co-ordinated international event and other activities such as petitions, pledges, web-based interactive and downloadable materials, plus localized in-country events.
